CORONATION PARDONS

Winnipeg, June 23.
The King will pardon five convicts to Canada, one being Thos. Newton, of Winnipeg.

COLONEL LYNCH

Col. Lynch was again remanded in London.

D. W. DAVIS SUSPENDED.

Duron, Y. T., June 20.—D. W. Davis, collector of customs, has been suspended owing to grave irregularities in the customs department. After the suspension he handed in his resignation. Alex. A. Cook, of the same department, has also resigned. It is understood that Davis received a large sum of money from the Alaska Exploration Co. and the result was that the government was defrauded of a large amount of revenue. It is possible that criminal proceedings will be taken against the officers of the company. Inspector McMichael discovered the frauds shortly after his arrival. E. S. Busby, formerly at St. George's, has been temporarily appointed to fill the vacancy. The claim against the company with penalties will reach $50,000 or more. The evidence secured by McMichael is said to be very clear. Other charges may be made. Davis was formerly a cooperative member of the Commons for Alberta. He was appointed collector of customs by Sir Charles Tupper in 1896.

MURDER AT BITTERN LAKE.

Nahls Johnson, remanded, was brought in last night by the N. W. M. P. from Wetaskiwin. He is charged with the murder of one Peter Johnson.

It appears that the two men owned adjoining ranches. Nahls Johnson has been in the country for some time, but Peter Johnson, who is not a relative, arrived more recently. The friends of the latter wrote letters repeatedly for some time but failed to receive replies from him. This caused anxiety and finally a friend came up from Ender North Dakota, to look over the country and endeavor to learn something of his acquaintance, but without success. The N. W. M. P. constable was then appealed to and the matter was taken up. It was found that the missing man had not returned to his home and that he was last seen going to Bittern Lake and that he had disappeared sometime in the early part of the winter.

The N. W. M. P., under the instructions of Major Belcher, have been actively engaged for some time, with the result that on Friday, the body of the missing Peter Johnson was found buried in a slough.

An inquest was held at Wetaskiwin by Dr. Robertson, the coroner, at which the jury returned the verdict: "That Peter Johnson met his death, at the hands of Nahls Johnson, by gunshot wounds."

The preliminary examination will take place at Wetaskiwin when arrangements have been made by the crown prosecutor.

This session Mr. Sharman, agent for Manitoba purchased stock, has brought in five car loads of thoroughbreds from Manitoba.

—W. T. Henry returned on Friday evening. Mr. Henry has made a tentative tour through Eastern Canada and the United States, having visited nearly all the principal cities on both sides of the line. EDMONTON EXHIBITION.

Improvement is the spirit of the age, improvement by education; and education by comparison, as well as, or more than, by study. A universally accepted form of education by comparison is the agricultural and industrial exhibition, or summer fair. Many are the reasons which induce the holding of such exhibitions, but whatever the reason the effect is educative in proportion to the size and kind of the fair. The city, town or village at which the fair is held, and to whose work and striving it is generally due, no doubt hopes to profit directly and indirectly by its being held. But the profit is seldom if ever of a financial nature. The town desires to advertise itself by doing something out of the common for the general advantage. It adds to the general store of knowledge to have people travel from long distances to meet each other in a friendly way and to discuss matters of mutual interest brought to their attention by being placed before them in very fact. It is by comparing results in utility, in beauty, in speed or otherwise that we can know what are the best methods of achieving those results. The more people that can be brought together the closer and more numerous the comparisons that can be made, and therefore the greater the value of the exhibition to those who attend.

As the chief town and business centre of Northern Alberta it is fitting that Edmonton should assume the duty laid upon it by circumstances and undertake the establishment of a yearly fair here that shall be as representative of the best that can be done in all departments of agriculture and industry in the Chinook Belt and the Saskatchewan Valley, as the Toronto and Winnipeg industrials are of the provinces of Ontario and Manitoba. To this end the Edmonton Industrial Exhibition Association was organized, some years ago, grounds purchased, buildings erected and all preparations made to ensure an interesting and valuable exhibition. Last year the association had all preparations made for a grand show; but the very elements fought against them. Unprecedented rains fell, traffic was suspended on the railway by washouts and by strike at the very time of the fair, and of course the effort was not crowned with success. Any body of men less determinedly enterprising would have been discouraged by the misfortunes of their first attempt. At an early stage of the season it was determined to hold a fair again this year, wet or dry, and throughout the discouraging weather of May and early June preparations went on. It was announced from the start that there would be no postponement on account of the weather. Now that the rains have ceased, the roads are drying up and the trains running on time, there is every reason to expect that the fair of this year will achieve the success expected last year.

But even a combination of energetic management and good weather cannot make success. That depends on the attitude of the public mind towards the enterprise—the public appreciation of the value of the exhibition and competition thus brought about. First of all if those who have what is worth showing take enough pride in its possession to cause them to show it, there will be no lack of others who desire to see what is worth seeing. The exhibitor, the man who has been successful in growing extra good grain or stock, or in making a special success in any combination of intelligence and labor is the backbone of the exhibition. The most that the management can do is to give him the best and fairest possible opportunity to compare the results which he has achieved with those achieved by others. They cannot arrange the list or the dates or other details to meet the views or convenience of every one, for people's views differ. But by great trouble and expense they have provided commodious grounds and buildings, and have arranged dates and railway fares so that the best possible chance is given to see and to have exhibits seen. This North Alberta is an agricultural region, conditions are different from those prevailing in other parts of the Northwest. In some cases better, and in some cases worse. But in every case North Alberta gets a black eye from every other agricultural section of the country. This has an effect on the value of land, on the investment of capital and in many ways detrimental to the more rapid advancement of the district. A well supported yearly fair would go far to establish the agricultural pre-eminence of the district,

Every man, farmer or business man, can judge of how much that means to him.

The fair grounds are beautifully situated on the Hudson's Bay flat below the town, and on the bank of the Saskatchewan river so that there is no lack of water at hand for all purposes. There are sheds for 50 head of cattle and box stalls for 30 horses, besides pens for sheep and pigs. The half mile oval track was finished last year and is now pronounced by the horsemen who are exercising on it daily the equal or superior of any track west of Lake Superior. Inside the track and in full view of the covered grand stand is the square for the athletic sports.

So far the secretary has been informed of a car of thoroughbred short horns coming from Castle Eavery, Manitoba and two car loads from Lacombe. Local growers are also preparing to show and others from a distance are expected. Seventeen outside horses are now booked for the racing events and ten or twelve more are expected.

The applications for space in the hall already received include: W. H. Hooper, furs and curiosities, Swift's packing house products, Great West Saddlery Co., G. H. Graydon, H. W. B. Douglas, Gallagher-Hull Co., J. Kelly for Empire Cream Separator, and Minneapolis Threshing Co., G. E. Grogan samples of oxide of iron.

Baled hay will be sold to exhibitors at cost on the grounds.

Amongst the attractions is Dowker's Wild West show with ten horses and steers and four riders.

All reports from down the line indicate that there will be many visitors. The C. P. R. special return rates are: Fare and a third from points on main line Medicine Hat to Banff and on C. & E. south from Calgary to Macleod. From Calgary to Olds a $5 return fare; and from points north of Olds single fare. Everything points to a good turn out and a most interesting and enjoyable exhibition.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, JUNE 23rd, 1902

WEATHER AND CROPS.

The weather has changed for the better and it is to be hoped that the change will be permanent. Since the heavy rains of May, which reached a climax in the downpour of the 30th, the weather has been cool, cloudy and showery. The rains were not heavy, but they were frequent. They did not make conditions, as to roads and crops, worse than they were before but they prevented them from improving. On Thursday afternoon, however, there was a change for the better. The whole condition of the atmosphere seemed to be reversed in a few hours. The earlier part of the day had been raw, cloudy and showery, but in the afternoon the sky cleared, the wind blew softly from the south and the country at once took on a different look. The promise of Thursday has been continued to the present, and prospects are now as bright as they were before discouraging. During the long continued wet there was a tendency to panic on the part of the weak hearted ones. Now that the change has come and it is possible to look over the situation, it is found that nothing is very much the worse. Although grain has not grown much during the past three weeks it had a good start and the danger of injury by great heat suddenly following excessive rain has been averted by the coolness of the past two weeks. The land dried sufficiently during that time so that heat coming now will not injure the grain except on wet or very low lying land. Wherever the crop has been covered by water no doubt it is injured if not destroyed. But the proportion in that condition is very small. Although the district is not hilly it is sufficiently undulating to protect the bulk of the crop against being covered with water. The principal damage done has been in the case of weak seed, the weak plants from which could not stand the unfavorable conditions. This has made some of the crops thin and should be one more strong reminder not to sow any but perfect seed. No doubt under favorable conditions there is little difference between sound and partially unsound seed. But the difference is very great when growing conditions are unfavorable. Wheat has stood better than oats and oats better than early sown barley. Late sown barley will be all right, and the acreage of barley is larger than usual. Any ground which was unsown when the heavy rains set in having been put in barley. Potatoes have suffered more than grain. Those planted early in low ground have frequently rotted. It is said on good authority that potatoes planted where are much safer in either a wet or a dry season than those which have been cut for planting. It is not too late to plant potatoes yet, and where the seed has missed this should be done.

Roads are drying up but the mud holes remain and the creeks are still high. The ground which was dry for years has become completely soaked, and the sloughs and creeks need not be looked for to dry up as in former years even with the coming of any weather. Improvements will be needed that were not thought of in former years. But after all the rain, although not all good, has done more good than harm. The country had become very dry. So dry that surface water was becoming scarce, and the luxuriant vegetation, for which the district is noted, was becoming less marked. The renewal of moisture ensures a continuance of luxuriant growth, even during dry seasons, which to the stranger arriving in those seasons seems unaccountable.

Canadians in London.

Calgary Herald, Toronto, June 19.—A London cable says: The Canadian contingent is now quarantined with the Australians and New Zealanders at the left front of Alexandra Palace. The Duke of Connaught inspected the Canadian contingent (consisting to-day and complimented Lieutenant Colonel Pellatt and the officers of the corps.

Ill in South Africa.

Calgary Herald, Ottawa June 18.—A cable from Cape Town to the militia department says: Dangerously ill June 14th, at Pine-town Bridge, third C.M.R. 430. Geo. Robb, enteric fever, June 16, second C.M.R. E.C. Redwell, Medicine Hill, enteric fever; Klerksdorp, June 17th, second C.M.R. 628, Louis Freeman, Hamilton.

How it Looks to a South African.

The Montreal Star publishes an article on the subject of the recent peace terms written by a South African loyalist;

A South African's views on the peace question while they differ from a Canadian's, cannot fail to be of interest. A Canadian can only look at the subject darkly, because from the very start of the South African trouble, that is since 1881, the whole politics of South Africa have been a sealed book to the outside world. It happened to be that before the war there was less hatred between British and Boer South African than between Transvaal and Holland, or Transvaal and Johannesburg. They had a respect for each other.

The writer had good opportunities of watching the friction between the Boer and the Hollander, for he was on the staff of the principal English paper in Pretoria and was a persona grata, with many of the Dutch officials. Commandant Smuts was then State attorney, very young for the position (being only just down from Cambridge, Eng.), but well able to hold the Boer Government up when it came to a question of Britain or Boer. Nor is his mind less keen than now.

The terms of peace, how completely they shield every Transvaaler and Free State subject! And after plunging Britain into a thousand million dollar war, the Boer, the farmer warrior, the man who shot Britishers— with the white flag flying, is to be exempt from all war taxation, and is to have his farm rebuilt and restocked by a bountiful British public! His children will be taught Dutch; and his language will still be used in the courts if necessary. This will practically mean that all summons and other notices will have to be printed in both languages, for many of the older Boers, especially Doppers, although they can speak and understand English, pretend not to.

This language question is a larger one than appears on the surface. De Taal, South African Dutch, is the lingua franca throughout the Transvaal, because the Boer in his obstinacy makes his native servants learn Dutch, although every man in the veldt can think in, and speak most of the South African dialects. It is the language of the farming districts, and it is the only tongue which is used in wagon-driving. It is no exaggeration to say that peace is not secure in South Africa while the Dutch language continues to be the language of the veldt, and while the farming is confined to families who mourn those who have died for folk on land. History repeats itself and as in the past, so now, will the tide of immigration be to Johannesburg and other large centres. The countryside will be Dutch, while the towns, troops, and police will be English spoken. The language question is the greatest concession and a triumph for the Boer leaders. It means that the Boers will still live apart, even though a remnant of a people.

People may now belittle it, but wait! A child imbibes its national character at its mother's breast; and so long as that is, and the Boers retain their quaint old world language, so long will the breach between Boer and Briton take to heal.

When quietness has settled on the land once more, then and only then will it be possible to see the full working of the heaven of war. Many farms will be run by women, the men of the household being dead.

This is a necessity. The possession of arms by the Boers may be a menace to the peace, but in any case they would have them, legally or illegally. The loss of prestige by the Boers in the eyes of the nations, were the former deprived of their weapons, would be immeasurable. In British South Africa a black is not allowed to possess a rifle, and the selling of the same to him is a criminal offence, punishable by heavy fine and imprisonment. To put a Boer on that level would be a lowering of all whites in the eyes of the native, and no South African would like to see the only man who can rule niggers (i.e. the Boer) made to feel like one.

Of course, before the war the Boers were none so magnanimous as the British are now. They were well content that the Britisher should carry no arms, and they provided the Matabele with rifles to fight the Chartered Company in their rising in 1896.

The laying down of arms, etc.—Let him who can, believe that the slim Boer will give in more than a part of them. All over the veldt are huge stores of munitions of war, hidden at various times. Their location is known to comparatively few, and those who know will reckon they but copy the bible patriarchs when they considerately forget the arms now.

Re-reading the terms of peace, one notes a startling omission. No mention is made of the Kaffirs. In the first terms of peace, Art. X, said: "No franchise to Kaffirs before representative government in the new colonies. Afterwards a limited franchise so as to secure predominance of white races."

What does this silence mean? Is the home government leaving to South African legislators the native question, or does it signify that some cut-and-dried scheme has been already arranged?

Another point, South African opinion has apparently been muzzled by the censor, for no Cape press comments have yet been flashed across the cable. Does it mean that the terms are denounced too scathingly? Are there a few other by-actions which are being kept back until after the coronation? Are loyalists who lost their all in the war to be taxed in order that Brother Boer may continue to be pampered as he has been throughout the whole course of hostilities?

British refugees have been allowed to starve and clean niggers' boots, while Boer prisoners and the wives and families of those in the field have been well cared for. Right from the start the watchword has been "Conciliate the Boers," and to this end loyalists have had to stand aside to make place for those of whom the government were not sure. No wonder that South Africa has appointed a day of humiliation. On account of the silence on many points, one cannot say more till South African papers come to hand. One thing is sure, and that is, that the Boers have kept a quarter of a million of men on the move for three years, and at the end surrender on practically their own terms.

One turns in vain to history to find a parallel to such generosity. One can not write justice. No! Great Britain has apparently overlooked the claims of all South Africans, other than rebels and her enemies.

Loyalists are clean forgotten, like the claims of the Cavaliers after the civil war was finished and Charles II, was on the throne.

In the end, however, South Africa will work out its own governments independent of Great Britain.

South Africa, generally, will object if they are in any way taxed for the Transvaal war, for their losses in the cause of empire are heavy. They bled, while England was slowly waking to the fact that the Boers could fight.

At the end of hostilities it was apparently too late to consider those who had suffered so long ago.

One hopes for the best, but it does not look as though the end is yet.

Calf Feeding.

"For a number of years I have had most of my cows drop their calves in the late fall, or early winter," says Duncan C. Anderson, of Rugby, Ontario. "And I have come to the conclusion that there is a decided gain in so doing. The milking season is lengthened; cows coming in fresh before Christmas, by liberal feeding in winter, milk nearly as well in the early summer when the pastures are at their best, as cows that come in fresh in March. We milk ten months, giving the cows two months rest. They are rested in the early fall, when the pastures are at their poorest. At that time the grass is generally dry and burned up. As we raise the skin milk one calf to each cow, it is very important that the cows should have two months' rest out of the twelve. When the cows are milked to within a couple of weeks of calving they get no chance to recuperate. The calf generally comes with a weakened vitality, and does not make as rapid or satisfactory a growth in the first 6 months as when the cows have had a fair period for rest and recuperation. After a long term of experience I have come to the conclusion, considering the increased price of winter butter, the long milking season, resting when the grass is poor, that in winter dairying, cows give at least 25 per cent more milk in the season than if they came in fresh in the spring months. Again an early winter or fall calf is quite as heavy at two and one half years as a spring calf is at three years old. There is a gain of six months in the age of the calf, the reason for this being that it is weaned off the milk in June, goes on to grass, is fed a little grain or meal all summer, and in the fall it is a good strong lusty yearling, and winters much better than a spring calf, which is just weaned in the fall and goes into winter."

When a calf is dropped it is not good practice to allow the cow to fiddle and lick her offspring. When the separation does take place there is always a disturbance in the cow, stable the mother gets excited, and some nervous cows remain so for the best part of a week. Better results are obtained by removing the new born calf without allowing the mother to lick it. Rub it dry with a wisp of straw, put it into a roomy, dry, warm pen, free from frosts and drafts, and give it to milk for the first twelve hours. When a calf is hungry it is not nearly so much trouble to teach it to drink. The first two weeks it should have a quart of whole milk three times a day, care being taken that the noon milk is warmed to new milk heat. For the next three weeks half a quart of skim milk should be added to the whole milk at each meal. When the calf gets to be five weeks old, discontinue the new milk, also the whole milk, giving about three quarts of skim milk twice a day. By this time the stomach will be strong enough to assimilate and digest other food. The noon meal should then be pulped roots, chopped oats and well saved clover hay. If a separator is not used and the milk is set in shallow pans or deep setting cans, it should always be warmed up to new milk heat before being fed. If it is fed cold or too hot it is apt to produce bloating and scour. When through careless feeding, scouring is allowed to become chronic there is no remedy. When a calf is not doing well break an egg into its milk; this acts as a tonic and adds strength to its ration.

To supplement the loss of butter fat in milk, take for 12 calves over two months old, four cups of flax seed, put into a common stove pot and fill up with water. Do this after dinner and allow it to simmer all afternoon and evening. Next morning boil smartly for about one half hour, stir in some wheat flour, until the mixture is about the consistency of thin porridge. A calf three months old will take a cup full of this flax seed tea porridge in its skim milk. The flour is used to counteract the loosening effects of the flax seed. Care must be used at first not to overfeed but to work up gradually to what I have mentioned, with skim milk, flax seed tea, roots, chopped oats and clover hay, and with comfortable warm pens kept clean and well bedded. Calves can in this way be raised much more profitably in winter than in summer. When a separator is used it is best to skim the froth off the skimmed milk and not feed it to the young calves, especially those under three months. It has a tendency to disturb the normal action of the stomach, and set up scour. Whenever a calf is scouring reduce the quantity of skim milk. Be careful to have the pail from which the calves are fed as clean as possible. With skim milk at the right temperature fed out of pails as clean as your milking pails, in not too large quantities, and feed regularly, there will be but little trouble from calves scouring.

In warm weather calves should be kept in during the day time, and turned out in the evening. Thus they will avoid the hot sun and the flies. Whole or chopped oats should be fed. A mixture of whole and chopped oats, about a cupful twice a day for an ordinary sized calf on good pasture, will be sufficient. For fall feeding until the roots are harvested, there is nothing equal to green corn run through the cutting box and mixed with some chopped oats.

The main point in calf feeding is to never allow them to stop growing, and in the case of best animals keep them in good flesh. In feeding calves as in every system of feeding, the extremes of over and under feeding are to be avoided. Continuous, regular, liberal feeding always brings the most profit, and the best practical results."

Returned to Regina.

Regina Leader, June 19:
Mr. A. L. Sifton, Commissioner of Public Works, returned to Regina last Friday evening. He had spent five days in Northern, Central and Southern Alberta gathering information of the extent of the damage to roads and bridges done by recent floods and found that the damage was really enormous. Scores of bridges, including many of the larger structures, were washed out, and roads particularly in Northern Alberta are in deplorable shape. Mr. Sifton states that the bridges built by contract seemed to have fared worst, while practically all the bridges which the government has had constructed under direct superintendence have weathered the strain. But in all cases the water was vastly higher than ever before since settlement began, and higher than the engineers ever estimated this spring throughout the Territories which entail an outlay greater than the whole amount which the government has available for public works. The condition is exceedingly serious, and it is to be feared that Alberta has not yet passed the worst stage. The highest water usually comes late in June when the snows in the mountains thaw. Mr. Sifton spent all of Saturday hard at work in his office, and on that evening took train for Ottawa where he will place the facts before the federal government and press for an extraordinary money grant to meet the extraordinary conditions. Among the bridges washed away are two large Dominion Government bridges in Southern Alberta. Mr. Sifton hopes that, at the least, the government will agree to the immediate reconstruction of these.

New Bridges for

Macleod and Lethbridge

Ottawa, June 18.—Hon. A. L. Sifton, Territorial commissioner of public works, had an interview with Hon. J. Laurier this morning in reference to the bridges at Macleod and Lethbridge, which were destroyed by the floods last month. These bridges were built originally by the Dominion government seven years ago, and Mr. Sifton at once recognized the importance of immediately replacing them by substantial structures and agreed to take the matter up at once with the residents of these two towns as dependent on having thoroughly satisfactory bridges by the time the ice goes out next spring.

Coal Mining Rights on Patented Lands
Lands patented or entered, on which the coal mining rights have been reserved;

9. (a) Any person or persons desirous of obtaining permission to prospect for minerals on lands that have been patented or entered and on which the mining rights have been reserved, shall make application therefor to the minister of the interior.

(b) Such application shall be in writing, defining clearly the area applied for, which area must not exceed 320 acres.

(c) If the minister of the interior sees no objection to the application being granted, the applicant will upon payment of a fee of $10 be given permission to prospect upon furnishing the minister with proof that he has complied with the provisions of the following subsection.

(d) The applicant shall enter into a bond, with two sureties to the satisfaction of the department of the interior, to recompense the owner or occupant of the soil for damages that may be done to his lands.

(e) If the proprietor of lands so entered upon shall seek damages, he shall, before the end of two months after the expiration of the permission given, make his claim in writing against the proprietor detailing the particulars and amount of claim; and if the claim is not adjusted by agreement between the parties within one month after notice thereof as aforesaid, it shall be settled by arbitration in the manner prescribed in sections 13 and 14 of these regulations.

10. No permission to prospect shall authorize entry upon any buildings or the curtilage appertaining to any house, store, barn or building, or upon any garden, orchard, or ground reserved for ornament, or under cultivation by growing crops, and inclosed, except with the consent of the occupier or permission from the minister of the interior upon special application setting forth the circumstances under which the same is applied for, and on such terms as the case may require.

11. If, at the expiration of the period for which permission has been given to prospect on lands, it is desired to acquire the mining rights thereunder, they will be sold at the rate and on the terms prescribed by the mining regulations, less the price ruling for surface rights in the class in which the lands may be situated.

12. If the occupier of the lands has not received a patent therefor, the purchase money of the surface rights shall be paid to the crown, and a patent of the surface rights will issue to the party who acquired the mining rights. The money so collected will either be refunded to the occupier of the land, when he is entitled to a patent therefor, or will be credited to him on account of payment for land.

13. When the party obtaining the mining rights to lands cannot make any arrangements with the owner or his agent of the occupant thereof for the acquisition of the surface rights, it shall be lawful for him, to give notice to the owner or his agent, or the occupier to appoint an arbitrator to act with another arbitrator named by him, in order to award the amount of compensation to which the owner or occupant shall be entitled. The notice mentioned in this section shall be according to a form to be obtained upon application from the agent of Dominion lands for the district in which the lands in question lie, and shall, when practicable, be personally served on each owner, or his agent, or known, or occupant; and after reasonable efforts have been made to effect personal service, without success, then such notice shall be served by leaving it at, or sending by registered letter to, the last place of abode of the owner, agent or occupant. Such notice shall be served, if the owner or agent resides in the district in which the land is situated, ten days, if out of the district and within the province, twenty days, and if out of the province, thirty days, before the expiration of the time limited in such notice. If the proprietor refuses or declines to appoint an arbitrator, or when for any other reason, no arbitrator is appointed by the proprietor in the time limited therefor by this section, the agent of Dominion lands for the district in which the lands in question lie shall, on being satisfied by affidavit that such notice has come to the knowledge of such owner, agent or occupant, or that such owner, agent or occupant wilfully evades the service of such notice, or cannot be found, and that reasonable efforts have been made to effect such service, and that the notice was left at the last place of abode of such owner, agent or occupant, appoint an arbitrator on his behalf.

14. (a) All the arbitrators appointed under the authority of these regulations shall be sworn before a Justice of the Peace to the impartial discharge of the duties assigned to them, and they shall forthwith proceed to estimate the reasonable damages which the owner or occupant of such lands according to their several interests therein shall sustain by reason of such prospecting and mining operations.

(b) In estimating such damages, the arbitrators shall determine the value of the land irrespective of any enhancement thereof from the existence of minerals thereon.

(c) In case such arbitrators cannot agree, they may, select a third arbitrator, and when the two arbitrators cannot agree upon a third arbitrator the agent of Dominion Lands for the district in which the lands in question lie shall select such third arbitrator.

(d) The award of any two such arbitrators made in writing shall be final, and shall be filed with the agent of Dominion Lands for the district in which the lands lie.

JOHN J. MCGEE,
Clerk of the Privy Council.

Report of the Territorial Live Stock Association.

The report opens with a reference to the early history of cattle improvement in the west and to encouragement given on the industry by the Territorial government. Mr. Peterson lays much stress on the superiority of western purebred cattle for western breeders, and this has been the main idea which has led to the inception of the annual purebred cattle auction sales at Calgary, which have proved such an unqualified success. Full details of the results of last year's (the first) sale are given which realized $5,451.00, and average of $55.17 per head. As soon as the local breeder can confidently look forward to a really cash market for purebred bulls of good individuality he will make it his business to cater to the ranching trade and will endeavor to raise his bulls as nearly as possible under the conditions they will be required to face when put to actual work. Other things being equal, the home raised bull, bred and accustomed to ranching conditions, ought to be worth a great deal more to the rancher than the produce of the eastern provinces, and our local breeder will be able to sell a better animal at a lower price than an equally good industrial could be imported for and still reap a fair profit. The highest priced bull sold at last year's sale realized $250.00 and the honor of raising it belongs to the firm of Messrs. Peter Talbot & Sons, of Lacombe, the senior member of which is vice-president of the association. Messrs. Laidman Bros., of Lacombe, disposed of two animals for $118.50 each and Mr. Thomas Talbot, of Lacombe, realized $130 for one bull. The importance of having cattle presented for sale in prime condition, is pointed out. It was found at the sale in question that the difference in price between thin and fat cattle, otherwise of equal merit, ranged from $25 to $40. The rules governing the cattle sales are given at length in the report. Another feature of the association's work is the inauguration of an annual spring purebred cattle show in connection with the sales. The question of holding the annual show at different points in successive years is discussed. Mr. Peterson points out the necessity of choosing the locations with a view to obtaining the best possible attendance of buyers and the most suitable accommodation for stock.

A model prize list for the guidance of agricultural societies of the Territories in drawing up their local fair prize lists was prepared by the executives of the two live stock associations and has been since issued as a bulletin of the Territorial department of agriculture. Such a step has been contemplated for years past by live stock associations of other provinces and it is to the credit of the Territorial associations that they have taken hold of the matter in a practical manner and carried it out. Other matters dealt with are arrangements made for the representation of the association on boards of directors of agricultural societies, complaints with regard to imperfect cleansing and disinfection of stock cars and co-operation with the Manitoba live stock associations. The membership of the association has been doubled this year and the secretary looks forward to the loyal support of all breeders of purebred cattle in the Territories. Appended to the reports is a useful directory of purebred cattle breeders in the Territories, of whom there are now 206.

The Canadian Northern.
Winnipeg Telegram, June 17.—William Mackenzie, president, D. D. Mann, vice-president and D. B. Hanna, superintendent of the Canadian Northern railway, arrived from Port Arthur last evening about 10:30 in their private car. The party made a trip over the line between Winnipeg and the lakes to see to what extent the new line had been injured by the recent rains.

About forty miles of the line has been ballasted this year and is in excellent condition. In several places where embankments exist, the heavy rains have retarded the proper settlement of the earth as the filling is of soft clay and takes considerable time to get in good condition.

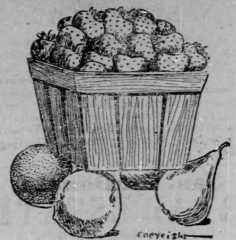

With regard to a regular passenger service between Winnipeg and Port Arthur, Mr. Mann said that it would be at least four weeks before it would be installed, though the line was in good condition for a fast freight service. He did not think it advisable to rush ahead with the passenger service till everything was in working order.

He expressed himself as well pleased with the progress being made in the erection of the new elevator at Port Arthur.

ON THE EDMONTON "OVAL TRACK."

Considerable interest, which is daily increasing, is being evinced by the horsemen who are "keeping school" on the track.

For some time, W. R. Stewart, of Fort MacLeod, has had his string of aristocrats quartered in the stables on the association grounds. There are five in number, viz.—Margary, pacer, 2:17-4; Archie Kirk, green pacer; Jack Stewart and a "Bob Kirk" filly, both two year olds, and are entered for the two year old stakes for paces at Seattle, Wash., and Salem, Oregon; and the trotting filly Ethel.

The track is in fine condition and fast. On Thursday last some good heats were made. With present indications some of the pupils bid fair to lower their records.

Woodlawn, pacer, 2:23-4, owned by Larose & Starrett is also doing daily exercise on the track, and is in good fettle.

From Strathcona, M. A. McLean's "Ollie M." trotter 2:50 class, is constantly at work and will be good and fit for fair week.

Fort Saskatchewan will contribute. Frank Goode's Jim Mitchell, trotter 2:50 and James Graham's galloping mare Margarie.

It is rumored that one or more flyers from Calgary will also pass under the wire.—The more the merrier!

—Regina Leader.—Supt. Primrose has gone to Maple Creek to take over command of that division of the N. W. M. P. force. It is understood Supt. Moffat is retiring. He has been long in poor health.

CORONATION DAY.

Thursday, June 26th, the coronation day of King Edward, the Seventh, has been proclaimed a national holiday.

Although there does not appear to have been any definite arrangement made here, all the stores will doubtless suspend business.

The government offices and banks will be closed. For the convenience of the public, the post office will be open from 8 a. m. until 10 a. m. After the arrival of the mail the office will be open for box holders but there will be no general delivery at the wicket.

The celebrations for the day are as follows:

The coronation service at 10:30 a. m. at All Saints church, which will be attended by the mayor and corporation.

Sports will be held at Fort Saskatchewan, with a grand parade, and other entertainments.

The Societe de Saint Jean Baptiste will hold a celebration at Miriville consisting of religious services, patriotic demonstration and a musical entertainment in the evening.

At Strathcona there will be a grand amateur concert in Ross' Hall.

THE PUBLIC MUST BE PLEASED.

Visitors to the Winnipeg Industrial exhibition, which takes place July 21 to July 26, will be surprised at the vast improvements to the grounds and buildings. The new grand stand is now receiving a coat of paint and the grounds are being improved to such an extent that people who have visited the show in past years will hardly know them.

The management this year is making a special feature of its speeding events and is offering $12,000 in prizes, a large sum for even the big eastern fairs. Horses known on some of the best tracks in America are already entered to compete in the open events.

Jabour's big circus will provide special attractions and novel features never before seen in Western Canada. The "New Barnum," as Jabour is known in the world of showmen, has the most sensational specialist known in the realm of circus performers. This is Diavolo, the man who "loops the loop," one of the most perilous performances ever attempted by a trick bicycle rider. He apparently defies all natural laws and rides his wheel on an elevated track head downwards. It is a feat that has startled all audiences. The "looping the loop" feature is new, and only last winter in Madison Square Gardens, New York, created a sensation that is remembered.

The fireworks this season will be the most spectacular production of pyrotechnics ever given to a western public. "The Burning of Moscow" is the chief spectacular display, and in its production, besides the large amount of scenery used over 100 men representing the soldiers of the French army and Russian people, will take part.

STURGEON.

—Next Sunday, June 29th, will be observed on the Sturgeon as coronation Sunday. The Methodist and Presbyterian congregations uniting for the purpose. Service will commence at 7:30. Sermon will be preached by Rev. W. McLellan Potter, and the collection will be in aid of the Edmonton Protestant hospital. The choir will furnish special music and the church it is expected will be appropriately decorated for the occasion.

BEAVER LAKE.

M. McCauley returned yesterday from Beaver lake. He took a band of 20 mares and a thoroughbred Clydesdale stallion from Wetaskiwin to his ranch at the south end of the lake. Travel has been practically suspended between Beaver lake and Wetaskiwin for some weeks owing to the condition of the roads and the crossings of the Pipestone Creek. The mail is being carried on horseback, and supplies are being taken down the Pipestone and Battle river by boat.

Beaver lake now covers thousands of acres that used to be dry land. But the water is now falling. It went down a foot between Thursday and Saturday last, and was still falling. Crops scarcely look as well at Beaver lake as at Edmonton, but very little crop has been drowned out.

Mr. McCauley returned by the base line. He left the south end of Beaver lake at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and arrived home on Sunday afternoon with a lumber wagon. W. Bloss and J. G. Gladu came in at the same time. Messrs. Rowland Mackenzie, Phillips, Pruden, Norris and others of Beaver lake, who had visited Edmonton, went out by the base line.
